Floods Sweeping Oklahoma And Arkansas Towns; Kansas Water Recedes

TULSA, OKLA., June 13.—(By the Associated Press)—Flood waters of the Arkansas River fastened their hold on Tulsa and vicinity early today after a race of death and destruction through Southwestern Kansas. With the stream still coming up the most disastrous flood effects in the history of the city have been witnessed. The city water works plant, was forced to close down at 1:30 o'clock this morning, leaving Tulsa virtually unprotected from fire. Desperate efforts are being made to keep the plant of the Oklahoma Power Company from being flooded. This plant furnishes electricity for the city and surrounding towns. A big crew worked throughout the night throwing up a protecting levee. Water covers most of West Tulsa, where some of the biggest oil refineries in the country are located. With the waters creeping up to the boilers the Texas Company's refinery was shut down at midnight and work stopped at the other plants. Between 3,000 and 4,000 persons have been made homeless, most of them suburban dwellers between here and Sand Springs. It is estimated that 1,000 persons have been driven out of West Tulsa. Only one death has been reported, a negro being killed yesterday when he dived from a bridge. Towns down the river already have felt the effects of the high water. With water lapping over the levees on the Arkansas River near Ft. Gibson, fears are felt for the mill dam plant of the Oklahoma General Power Company under construction.

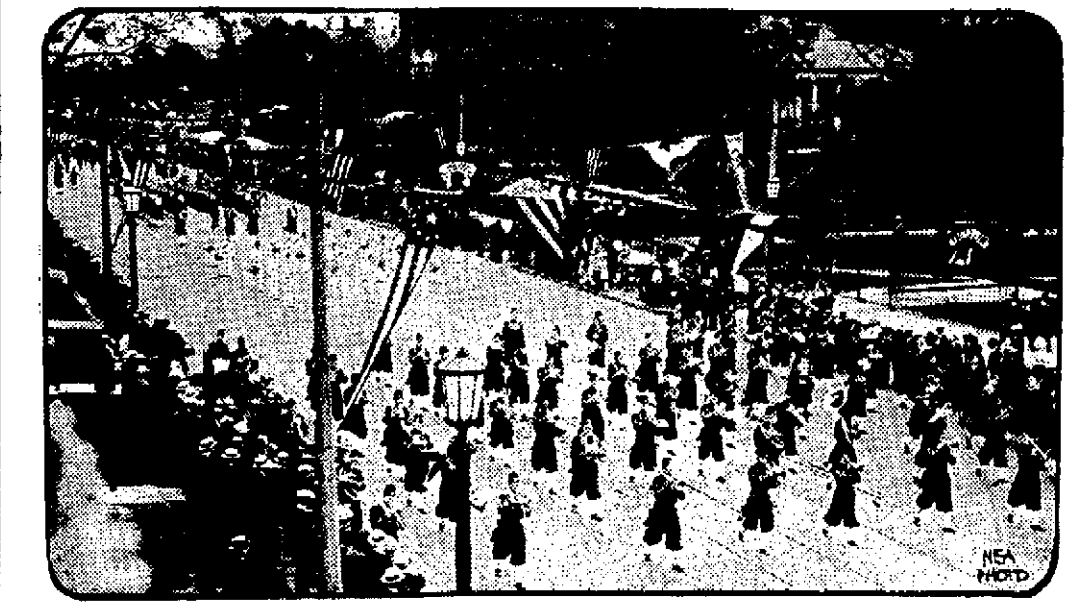

ARKANSAS TOWNS MENALED
JITTLER ROCK, ARK., June 13.—(By the Associated Press)—Towns and rural communities along the route of the swollen Arkansas River, which has inundated thousands of acres from Ft. Smith, on the northwest to Pine Bluff and beyond the southeast, were fortifying themselves against the crest of the flood, which weather officials here predict will come down in perhaps unprecedented height by next Sunday or Monday. The turbulent stream at Mulberry, south of Van Buren, Ark., has broken a levee and is eight miles wide and reported rising two inches every hour. The gauge at Van Buren at last reading showed 29 feet and rising. At Lee's Creek the river is five miles wide with bottom crops twenty feet under water over an area of many square miles. Sunday, officials say, will see a stage here of 23 feet, a flood mark higher than any recorded since the opening of the federal weather bureau in 1870. It is possible the record mark of 25 feet may be reached at Ft. Smith before the crest has passed. Danger from other rivers in Arkansas seems past, with the White, Chuchacha, Black and Cache reported falling. Waters in Kansas are receding.

MAJESTIC SAILS FOR U. S. AS THE FIRST DRY SHIP
SOUTHAMPTON, June 13.—(By the Associated Press)—The Majestic sails from this port today as the first dry British liner for the United States. In an effort to estimate the thirst of the passengers, about 500 of whom are booked in the first saloon, the White Star line issued blank forms asking each ticket holder to state his needs. However, it is doubtful how far this method will help the company avoid jettisoning its liquor stores at the three-mile limit, as several passengers have failed to fill out the forms while others have gauged their fluid capacity variously. Hereafter, the Majestic has carried liquor supplies averaging 60,000 bottles of beer, 3,000 bot.

He pleaded not guilty to the bigamy charge yesterday. Mrs. Dorothy Bull Smith, who married him in Toronto, is standing by her husband, and insists he is innocent. Smith, however, is said to have admitted that he borrowed money from her in order that he might marry Lilla Huberson, of Northrose, N. Y. A New York City girl is the other of the trio who claims to be the wife of the student.

"Third Party Now Impossibility"—Allen

WASHINGTON, June 13.—There is no sharp definition of issues and you cannot form third parties around the discontent and confused thought of ambitious leaders. Thus spoke former governor Henry J. Carnival Of Grottoes Swept Cleveland

CLEVELAND, O., June 13.—(By the Associated Press)—Indianapolis will be the scene of the 1923 carnival of the Mystic Order of Veiled Prophets of the Enchanted Realm, it was decided by the supreme council of the grotole Wednesday after a long and spirited session of balloting.

CLEVELAND, O., June 13.—(By the Associated Press)—Visitors attending the thirty-fourth annual carnival of the Mystic Order of Veiled Prophets of the Enchanted Realm, which broke loose with street carolers and dancing and ended with a burlesque parade, yesterday had the weirdest spectacle Cleveland has ever witnessed. So dense was the crowd at the height of the festivities, that down town traffic was at a complete standstill. Not until the crowd thinned out early today were the streets able to open lanes for street cars and automobiles to pass.

Midnight revelry, street carolers and dancing, and a monster burlesque parade through the downtown section of the city brought to a close the second day's program of the three-day carnival of the Mystic Order of Veiled Prophets of the Enchanted Realm. Competitive drills by the Prophets and Caldon teams, the latter of the Women's Auxiliary, featured the events during the day. Fifteen uniformed grotole patrols met in a petition which started early this afternoon and continued until late this evening.

The honours of the Women's Auxiliary went to the Mohabbat patrol of Davenport, Iowa, for the second consecutive time. The Zai team, of Moline, Ill., won second prize, and Allambra, of St. Louis, third. The Zai-Gais, of Ann Arbor, Mich., was the only other competitor. The competition that gripped the city last night was comparable only to the furor that a college town finds itself in the night before and the night after the big games of the year. The Grottoes—the playground of Blue Lodge Masonry—60,000 strong, turned the hotels into bedlams and the streets into roaring cauldrons of noise, laughter, bawling music and excitement.

Stunts Put On
The monstrous crowd began to get itself worked up late in the afternoon, parading through and in front of hotels in bathing suits, pajamas and all sorts of weird rig. It increased with dancing on East Sixth street from Superior avenue to Lakeside avenue, for city blocks—where thousands shuffled on the asphalt pavement, which was especially scrubbed and waxed for the occasion. A massed band concert in Public Hall, where two-score Grotto lands—1,100 pieces—joined under one leader, blared forth, also was an attraction.

Prior to the concert Monarch Harold Harter, of Toledo, elected today Past Monarch E. Craig Polozar, of Richmond, Va., and other grand officers held a reception at the hall.

Powers Alarmed Over War Spirit

ATHENS, June 12.—(By the United Press)—Four Balkan states called troops to the colors today and rushed reinforcements to their borders. Urgent measures were instituted to prevent the Bulgarian revolt and counter revolt from spreading. Mobilization of thousands of French troops and expansion of civil war were reported from Sofia and caused alarm in Belgrade, Bucharest, Athens and Prague.

In Budapest, the Hungarian capital, on the other hand, it was reported that news of the trouble in Bulgaria had been greeted with rejoicing and that secret mobilization of three classes had taken place. Greece too instituted war time measures to reinforce the Greek-Bulgarian frontier. Jugo-Slavia called up a thousand reserve officers and hurried additional troops to the border to reinforce those there. Czechoslovakia farther removed from the storm center, watched with anxiety and watched for military action. At Prague it was claimed that Bulgaria was partly mobilizing in defiance of the treaty which ended that country's participation in world war.

A bad impression has been created in other Balkan capitals. At Belgrade the crown council decided to request Bulgaria to demobilize immediately what volunteers have been enrolled in excess of the number allowed by the treaty of Neuilly. The Zankos ministry is struggling to put down a growing peasant counter revolt and has appealed for more enlistments.

Former Premier Stambouliski, overthrown by the Zankos coup d'etat Saturday, still is variously reported dead, captured, surrounded and leading a strong band of peasants and hill tribesmen towards Sofia. One at least of Bulgaria's neighbors is reported to have greeted the success of the whites headed by the present premier with enthusiasm. Hungary is reported to have secretly called up the classes of 1900 and 1901 and 1902. Adverses this afternoon said the youthful King Boris and Ex-King Ferdinand, were in the main the instigators of the revolt. Intentions to effect a confederation of Bulgaria with Serbia, is feared.

LONDON, June 12.—(By the Associated Press)—The Serbian ministers in the entente capitals have called the attention of the governments to the effect that the new Bulgarian government was mobilizing forces in excess of the stipulations of the treaty of Neuilly, says the diplomatic correspondent of the Daily Telegraph.

The correspondent adds that if Bulgaria does not cease mobilizing a war may possibly ensue. One from Sorlin, Humana and Greece will be sent from Sofia from Belgrade. The little entente countries fear lest the new regime in Sofia when it has overcome the menace of the peasant resistance, will avail itself of its increased military power to challenge the existing treaties.

Serbia, the writer asserts, is now sending strong reinforcements to the Bulgarian-Macedonian frontier, where it already has several divisions. A Sofia dispatch to the Daily Express says the new government had made sensational charges against Stambouliski and his colleagues, alleging that hoards of wealth have been found in their homes, in addition to evidence that the deposed ministers lived luxuriously, although it was supposed they were in modest circumstances. It is also alleged, says the writer, that the peasant party employed state capital for vast commercial dealings such as the purchase of valuable buildings and estates. Through a business concern known as the "agrarian national stores" they gained control of nearly the entire import and export trade of Bulgaria.

One of the present government's chief points of strength, it is believed, is the fact that all the country's farmers are busy gathering their crops. They are regarded as being too philosophical and provident to be attracted by a call to arms. Allied diplomats who have been in Bulgaria and who understand the psychology of the peasant, say that which will depend upon the new government's treatment of Stambouliski and his associates, all of whom sprang from the soil.

Displacing Old Regime
In the meantime the new regime at Sofia is rapidly displacing members of its diplomatic corps abroad who were appointed by Stambouliski. The ministers at Prague, Belgrade, Paris and Constantinople have already been cast out and more are to follow. Christu Kalleff, the new foreign secretary has telegraphed to London and the other foreign chancelleries reiterating the peaceful intentions of the new government.

Fearing violence at the hands of the Sofia regime, a few of Stambouliski's ministers who are still at large, as well as hundreds of officials identified with the former government, are scattering in terror in all directions. (Continued on Page Eleven)

Campaign Of Revenge Carried On In Ruhr

DUESSELDORF, June 13.—(By the Associated Press)—An organized reign of terror in the form of guerrilla warfare, is being carried on against the occupying forces in the Ruhr, according to French military quarters here today. The military authorities consider this a campaign of revenge on the part of the nationalists due to convictions of persons for crimes of sabotage, and sentenced by the French.

MAYENCE, June 13.—(By the Associated Press)—The death penalty has been imposed by a French court martial here upon the German engineer, George, of the Baden Anilin and Soda Works at Ludwigshafen, charged with sabotage. The French authorities say he has confessed. (Continued on Page Eleven)

Last Of Chiropractors Out Of Jail

Dr. P. D. Parks and Dr. D. D. Owen, two of the four chiropractors who went to jail two weeks ago rather than pay a $50 fine in Municipal court were released from the county jail by Sheriff Harry Dunham about 11 o'clock Wednesday morning after their fines had been paid by "A Friend." This signature was as the bottom of the note which accompanied the money for the fine sent to the office of Clerk Floyd Shookwiler of the Municipal court. The money, in currency, was sent special delivery, the same as on Tuesday when "A Friend" paid the fines of Drs. Omar L. and Hazel Knechtly, the other two chiropractors, who went to jail at the same time as Drs. Parks and Owen.

Dr. Parks went to his office and this afternoon said "I have my office open for business and I am expecting some patients in a short time." He also said that he understood Dr. Owen would resume his practice tonight by treating the Wheelersburg girl who received treatment at the jail, and the Drs. Knechtly would resume practice probably next Monday after spending the remainder of the week at their camp on the West Side.

Dr. Parks also said "I believe I express the sentiments of my three doctor friends when I say we are certainly appreciative of the payment of the fines and hope some day to learn the name of the person who paid the money so we can properly thank him."

Liquor Treaties Planned By U. S. As Solution Of Enforcement Snarl

WASHINGTON, June 13.—(By the Associated Press)—Informal negotiations initiated by the state department with various maritime powers contemplated a solution on a reciprocal basis of the ship liquor controversy and of the rum smuggling problem through exercise of the treaty making power of the government.

American officials, it was revealed today, see in this method an opportunity to eliminate inconveniences to foreign ships within the three-mile limit, due to prohibition enforcement regulations, while at the same time the hovering fleet of rum smugglers off the American coast may be broken up through extension by treaty agreement of the right of search for this specific purpose up to the twelve-mile limit.

In conversations with diplomatic representatives of the maritime nations it has been suggested that favorable action by the senate on a treaty designed to alleviate the situation of which these powers have complained would be probable only in the event of a reciprocal agreement that would aid the United States in its fight against liquor smuggling.

The view taken by administration authorities is that through the treaty making power, the executive branch of the government with the assent of the senate could sufficiently modify the rigid provisions of the prohibition law to permit ships with liquor to be brought within the three-mile limit as sealed stores. It is also regarded as practicable to provide by treaty for the movement of liquor in transit through American territory.

Emphasis has been laid in the informal discussions upon the fact that the suggested treaties must provide as a reciprocal matter for extension to twelve miles from shore of the right of search for commodities that are contraband under the laws of either of the signatory powers.

Crew Threaten To Strike
NEW YORK, June 13.—(By the Associated Press)—Nearly half the crew of the French liner steamer France served notice on her captain as the vessel sailed today they would refuse to make another trip to America so that they could get the two lire daily ration of wine provided by French law. The captain declared the France would return on schedule if he had to recruit a new crew from the French Merchant Marine College.

DETROIT, MICH., June 13.—(By the Associated Press)—Plans for what is expected to be the most crushing blow ever dealt to the illicit liquor traffic in the Detroit River district were being mapped out here today at a series of conference between E. C. Yellowley, chief of the field representatives of prohibition enforcement agents, James R. Davis, federal prohibition director for Michigan, and Earl M. J. Davies, U. S. district attorney for the Eastern Michigan district.

Announcement that a vigorous warfare was to be waged against all persons in this vicinity who are engaged in the illicit liquor business was made by Mr. Yellowley, soon after his arrival from New York to take charge of the local situation. "I expect to bring to Detroit all the available prohibition enforcement agents in the country to double the force of agents in this vicinity and to stamp out a large part of the business of dealing in liquor here," Mr. Yellowley said. "I am not sanguine enough to believe that Detroit can be made 'bone-dry.' As long as whiskey and beer are made in Canada just across the river from here, means will be found to bring over a bottle occasionally. But we can and will stop a large part of the traffic."

Mr. Yellowley refused to reveal the plans that he has in mind for curbing the illicit rum traffic.

"Going Home To Sober Up"
NEW YORK, June 13.—(By the Associated Press)—Lord Castleboro, son of Lord Kinnaird, officer of the steamship "Fancy" and said he was going home to "sober up."

"Really," he confided, "I never saw so much liquor in America. Why, I even got so I drank it before my meals for fear of losing some of it. Parlor me, but just when does this prohibition law become effective?"

Then assuming a more serious mein, he declared he had found he could get liquor in any public place he had asked for it and in some places, he said, the waiters brought it as a matter of course.

"I suppose they did it because I have a face that is expressive," he chuckled. "As for Al Smith—blessed be his name. He is a great man, and may yet save the Americans from dryness."

Runners Make Heavy Landing
HIGHLANDS, N. J., June 13.—(By the Associated Press)—Runners during the night made the heaviest landing since the coast guard patrol was strung around the liquor fleet off the three-mile limit. Working in a heavy haze, the smugglers were reported to have brought ashore from 250 to 450 cases.

While this landing was considerably smaller than in the days when the fleet was without maritime guards, local runners hailed the night's work as a signal victory. The smugglers suffered only one casualty. The cutter Manhattan seized a motor boat and two men, while it was alongside the ship, apparently bargaining for a cargo.

Hoover Says U. S. Loses Business
WASHINGTON, June 13.—(By the Associated Press)—Part of the "price we must pay for prohibition," is a loss of considerable sea-port business.

Secretary Hoover remarked today in discussing the new treasury regulations affecting liquor carriage on ships.

Vessels which have hitherto taken coal at American ports and have discharged part of their cargo or taken on partial cargoes in the United States while en route to the West Indies, Latin-America or Canada, will now be obliged to make other arrangements. The presence of liquor in the hold, although destined for countries where alcoholic stimulants are still legal, will require the elimination of American ports from sailing schedules.

Auto And Truck Crash

A Chevrolet touring car driven by Herbert Swannigan, of 1916 18th street, collided with a bakery truck driven by Wm. Gray of 4248 Oak street, New Boston, last night about 8:30 o'clock near the city water works. Both of the cars were slightly damaged, a fire being torn off the truck and one of the fenders bent while the front axle and a fender of the touring car were damaged.

There was an argument as to who would pay for the damage and both drivers went before Mayor Newberry who advised each to pay his own damage.

Schroeder Guilty; Fined $300

After the testimony of the last witness was heard in the trial of Motorist Stanley Schroeder, who was charged with possessing moonshine, was heard in Squire J. L. Ricker's court in New Boston at 10 o'clock this morning. Squire Ricker found Schroeder guilty and assessed a fine of $300.

Attorney Horace L. Small for Schroeder immediately notified the court that the case would be carried on an error, this step to be taken at once.

When Safety Director St. Straus learned that Schroeder had been fined, he stated that his suspension would not be lifted. Schroeder having been suspended the next morning after his arrest.

C. M. Bradford, who operates a soft drink parlor in the East End, where Schroeder was arrested, was fined $800 on a charge of possession and was given two days to pay up or go to jail. Schroeder and Bradford were arrested last week by Prohibition Officers Harry Castor, George Baynam and C. W. Hutchinson.

When Schroeder was placed on trial yesterday afternoon Squire Ricker's small court room was packed with spectators as much interest had been centered in the outcome of the trial.

In the crowd which gathered to hear the testimony was Chief of Police Jos. S. DiStef, Schroeder's bondsman, a number of the members of the Portsmouth police force. Mayor William E. Newberry of New Boston, and members of the New Boston police force. The crowd was an unusual one for a court attendance, however, owing to the absence of women, with the exception of Mrs. Kate Walsh, the official common pleas court stenographer, there were no women in the room.

Bradford Tried First. Bradford's case was called first. Judge Thomas C. Beatty appeared for the defendant and changed the plea from "not guilty" to "guilty," making a plea for a light sentence. Before sentencing Bradford, Squire Ricker said, "This is your second offense. You now owe on a fine for the first offense, a little over a month ago. This whiskey is bad stuff to sell. It sends men home to abuse and curse their wives and little children. It gets them into trouble, and lands them in jail. But, because you have changed your plea to 'guilty,' I will lighten the fine a little. I will fine you $800 and costs."

Judge Beatty then secured for his client a stay of execution until June 14, at 4 o'clock, by which time he must pay or go to jail.

Schroeder Case Called. The Bradford case disposed of, Squire Ricker called Schroeder to the bar. His plea having been previously made, the trial of the case proceeded without delay.

Judge Horace Small, representing the defendant, requested a separation of witnesses, and his request was granted, the witnesses leaving the room and standing in the drizzling rain outside until called to the stand.

Harry Castor, the complaining witness, however, was allowed to sit at the table with the state's counsel Judge Harry Ball.

Baynam, First Witness. State Prohibition Inspector G. A. Baynam was the first witness to testify for the state. Judge Harry Ball, who appeared for the state, after asking the routine questions of name, business, etc., asked the witness to tell the court his version of Schroeder's arrest.

Baynam testified that he saw Schroeder in Bradford's soft drink parlor, Gallia street, East Portsmouth, on the night of June 5th between 11 o'clock and midnight.

Officers Castor, Hutchinson, and myself were sitting in Castor's car in front of the Bradford soft drink place. We saw Schroeder inside, and saw him talking to Bradford in the front of the room, near the cigar stand. Bradford then walked back to the rear of the room and out through the rear door," Baynam testified, continuing, "Schroeder then moved back and stood about midway leaning against the bar. Bradford came back into the room, had back of the bar, his hand under the bar. Schroeder reached over and put his hand behind the bar, immediately thereafter placing it in his left pocket. When he reached the door, I grabbed his left pocket, told him he was under arrest, and took out of his pocket a half pint bottle of whiskey."

At this juncture, Judge Harry Ball showed Baynam a sealed half pint bottle, which the officer identified as the one which he had taken from Schroeder's pocket.

Had No Warrant. Judge Horace L. Small, in cross-examination, asked Baynam, "Did you have a search warrant to search this soft drink place or Schroeder's person?" Baynam replied: "I did not."

Thereupon Judge Small moved that all references to finding the bottle be stricken from the record because the search had been made without a warrant.

"Squire Ricker overruled Judge Small's motion."

Judge Ball then offered the bottle alleged to contain liquor said to have been taken from Schroeder's person in evidence.

The defendant's attorney interposed an objection to this action, but was overruled by the court, and the bottle was admitted as evidence marked, "Exhibit 1."

Hutchinson Testifies. Charles H. Hutchinson, another state prohibition officer, was the state's next witness, substantiating the testimony of Baynam.

Judge Small asked Hutchinson, on cross-examination, if he had been armed with a search warrant, to which the officer replied that he had not.

The defense then made the same motion with reference to his testimony being stricken out, and was overruled.

Judge Ball asked the witness if the Bradford room was well lighted, and the answer was "yes."

Castor Called to Stand. The closing witness for the state was W. Harry Castor, state prohibition inspector, whose testimony in regard to the arrest of Officer Schroeder was substantially the same as that of his two colleagues.

Judge Ball asked Castor: "What did Schroeder say when you arrested him?"

"He asked me if there wasn't some way we could 'fix this up,' stating that he might as well turn in his badge if he were arrested," Castor replied.

Judge Small repeated his question regarding the warrant, and received the same answer. The motion to strike out testimony was overruled. The state rested its case.

Moves To Dismiss. At this juncture, Judge Small for the defense, moved to dismiss the case, claiming that the testimony had been insufficient to convict. He was overruled.

Schroeder was the first witness to testify for the defense.

The officer testified that, about 11:30 p. m. on the night of June 5, he was in the soft drink place of Charles Bradford on Gallia street, East End.

Charles Clowe and I walked into the place, and I started to use the telephone. I had just caught a speeder on the hilltop, and wanted to notify the police station. I was unable to get central on the phone, and walked back to the lunch counter, where I ordered two pork sandwiches. I have been in the habit of getting pork sandwiches there for some time, each night before I go home.

"As I was standing back by the bar," Officer Schroeder continued, "I noticed a bottle under the bar and reached over and picked it up."

"I asked Bradford, 'Who does this belong to.' 'I don't know,' Bradford replied. 'Well, you know what this means?' I said, 'I am going to call the chief.'"

"I started toward the phone and Bradford said, 'That is out of order.' I turned to Clowe and said, 'Well, I've got to get to the chief.' and I started toward the door, having put the bottle in my pocket."

"As I reached the door," Schroeder continued, "Baynam stopped me and grabbed my pocket in which I had placed the bottle."

"I told the three officers that I, myself, was an officer, and that I was going to call the chief and report finding the bottle."

"They replied, 'The witness continued, 'We saw that fellow give you the bottle, and I went with them.'"

"After you found the bottle, why didn't you search the place?" Judge Ball asked the officer on cross-examination.

"I wouldn't search it without a warrant," Schroeder replied.

Substantiates Schroeder. Bradford was then summoned by the defense, and substantiated the testimony of Officer Schroeder.

Judge Small, in examination said, "I want to ask you two direct questions."

"1. Did you give Schroeder a bottle of whiskey?"

"2. Did you sell Schroeder a bottle of whiskey?"

Bradford answered: "I did not."

On cross-examination, Bradford admitted that he had gone out in the yard, but stated that he did not go out there to get whiskey, and did not know who brought the bottle into the place.

E. W. Taylor, East End merchant policeman, testified that he saw Bradford walk back toward the rear end of the room, but said he saw nothing further transpire.

What Business Owes to the Christian College

Chief Justice Taft on his return to America from four years' service as Director-General of the Philippines said that American business owes its opportunity to develop the resources of the Orient to Christian Missionaries who first blazed the trail and helped create those conditions which make it safe to do business there.

Roger Babson, the Statistical Expert, says: "The need of the hour is not more factories or materials, not more railroads, steamships, not more armies or navies, but rather more education based on the plain teaching of Jesus.

"I say this because we shall probably never live to see America attacked from without, but we may at any time see our best institutions attacked from within, —Yes, the safety of our Nation including all groups depends on Christian Education."

The Best Investment You Can Make

This type of human service has not given many of them an opportunity to acquire wealth, but in turn, they have done the kind of work in the World that makes it possible for others to acquire it.

That is why a Christian College like Ohio Wesleyan must depend upon sources of wealth outside of her immediate constituency.

That is why Ohio Wesleyan must appeal today to business men and women to invest their dollars in this great school that for 80 years has combined education with character building, to produce higher business credit, greater economic savings, and a finer type of citizenship.

Mrs. E. C. Lisle, who lives at 1270 Yaeger street, Columbus, is another convert to the Ka-di-ok treatment, which has helped hundreds of persons in this city, many of whom had suffered for years. She says: "I have been bothered with stomach trouble for years and have had to diet myself all the time or pay the penalty of having distressing pains and indigestion after eating. I have also been subject to severe pains in my back and was very nervous and fidgety. I have taken several bottles of Ka-di-ok this year and feel like a new woman. I have had stomach trouble so long that I know when an attack is coming on. When I notice any indication of trouble now I immediately take a dose of Ka-di-ok and, so far, it has never failed to correct the trouble. I have stopped dieting any more and eat anything that tastes good to me. I never dared do this before. I would not be without a bottle of Ka-di-ok in the house for anything. It is the only remedy that has brought me relief."

Ka-di-ok can be obtained in Portsmouth at Fisher & Strick's Drug Store.—Advertisement.

BROWN FACES ARSON CHARGE

A man giving the name of Thomas Brown, 25 years old, was taken into custody at a house in the rear of 1507 Third street yesterday evening by the county officers and later the prisoner was turned over to Deputy Sheriff Mellon of Floyd county, Ky., who held a warrant for Brown on a charge of arson.

Brown, who is accused of setting fire to the store of Melvin Denton at Prestonburg, readily agreed to return to Kentucky without requisition papers and Officer Mellon departed for home last night with his prisoner.

Hot Summer Sun Trying
On The Complexion

How To Protect Your Skin And Bring Roses To Your Cheeks
New York—Exposure to sun, dust and wind has a very bad effect upon the skin and complexion, but there is an easy way to overcome this. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will work a wonderful transformation. Over a million girls and women now use it in preference to face powder and other beautifiers. This is what two well known actresses say about it: Dorothy Dalton, the beautiful actress says: "The first application of this wonderful dermivul will astonish you. It imports instant beauty to the skin and makes a rosy white complexion. Everyone will talk about it. It protects the skin in all kinds of weather. That's why I prefer it to all other preparations and am never without it." Viola Dana, the well known star writes: "I often asked how I keep my complexion fresh looking. It's a simple process for anyone to have a smooth, velvety, rosy-white complexion. If she will use Lydia's cold cream to cleanse the skin and that will anyone a youthful appearance. It especially removes the blemishes of a dark sallow skin, shiny nose, tan, coarse pores, rough skin, redness, wrinkles and in fact every blemish of the face, hands and arms are her to." If your neck or chest is discolored stretch.—Advertisement.

New York Stocks

NEW YORK, June 13.—Prices displayed marked irregularity at the opening of today's stock market. U. S. Steel advanced fractionally, but the independent steels, Scudabaker and some of the other leaders in the industrial list, lost ground. New York Central advanced a point but Norfolk and Western Canadian Pacific each dropped slightly.

Early irregularity gave way to a distinct downward trend. Producers and Refiners and Standard Oil of New Jersey establishing new lows for the year. Equipments, motors, rubbers and some of the minor rails yielded perceptibly to selling pressure.

Manhattan dropped two points in reflection of the reduced dividend. Foreign exchanges eased slightly.

Prices fluctuated in fitful fashion throughout most of the forenoon, reflecting speculative uncertainty over the result of the New York Central dividend meeting. That stock, after rising 2 points to 102, dropped back to 99 1/4 but rallied to 104 1/4, a new top, on the announcement of a $7 dividend rate, an increase of $2.

The remainder of the list which had been heavy, rose briskly at noon on active buying of various non-dividend paying rails, especially the Baltimore and Ohio. Call money opened at 4 1/4 per cent.

Stock prices continued to sag today despite another series of favorable dividends including a higher New York Central rate. The pressure was most effective against the steels, oils, rubbers and equipments, some of which touched new lows. Sales approximated 1,150,000 shares. The closing was heavy.

Chicago Grain And Provisions

CHICAGO, June 13.—Although the wheat market here showed something of an upturn in price today at the outset, a decline soon took place. The initial strength was due to an unexpected advance in Liverpool quotations. Buying here, however, lacked volume and with harvest conditions improved by better weather the market underwent a moderate setback. Opening prices which varied from unchanged figures to 1/2¢ higher, with July 1.10 1/2 to 1.10 3/4 and Sept. 1.09 1/2 to 1.09 3/4, were followed by a sag all around to well below yesterday's finish.

HARDWARE MARKET WEEKLY REVIEW
NEW YORK, June 13.—Hardware Age, in its weekly market summary, will say tomorrow:

"Price stabilization is reported to be in process throughout the hardware industry. For the week ending June 9, there were 14 major advances and 3 reductions recorded, as compared with 20 advances and 5 reductions for the week ending June 2."

"Warmer weather has helped retail sales, but dealers throughout the country are reported to have large stocks which they have been unable to dispose of because of the cold spring. Jobbers are ordering on a conservative basis for fall and winter requirements, and it is reported by some that special price concessions in the form of extra discounts may be expected within the next few months."

"Jobbers expect prices to recede in an orderly and consistent manner throughout the next six months. A better undertone is becoming observable, especially in the larger market centers."

DECLARE DIVIDEND
NEW YORK, June 13.—The Michigan Central Railroad today declared a semi-annual dividend of 10 per cent payable July 28 to stock of record June 29. Six months ago the road declared a regular dividend of 4 per cent and an extra dividend of 6 per cent.

Raw Sugar Market Demoralized
NEW YORK, June 13.—The raw sugar market was demoralized early today by the sharp decline in futures and refiners were out of the market entirely. Prices therefore were nominal.

There was a violent break in raw sugar futures under renewed general liquidation, prompted by the conviction that in both the raw and refined markets, stop-loss orders were encountered on the decline, which carried active issues below yesterday's figures. Selling seemed to come from all quarters, but the decline was checked around midday by active covering and prices rallied 25 to 30 points from the lowest.

There were no changes in the market for refined sugar. List prices were quoted from 9.75 to 9.90 for fine granulated. Several refiners are reported accepting orders at 9.50. Refined futures nominal.

Tremendous Energy Bottled

Walter S. Josephson

Walter S. Josephson, a modest and hard-working mechanical genius of New York, is the first man, so far as is known, to store a highly explosive liquid for every-day use. He is shown here in his laboratory, releasing from a steel bottle a vapor which is powerful enough, when turned into a cylinder, to lift a street car in a few seconds. Josephson's development has been acclaimed by his scientific associates as one of the foremost discoveries of the day, and in its field with rival radio in its sphere, they say. He has been offered a fortune or his device.

BUSINESS SECTION IS ENLIVENED BY OLD FASHIONED HAIR PULLING

Police were busy Wednesday trying to learn the identity of two women, who staged a real hair pulling match, yesterday afternoon on Gallia street near Chillicothe. It was reported with excitement while a large crowd gathered to watch the fight.

The prologue to the battle began about 1:45 p. m., and was something like this. A small touring car holding two occupants, a man and a woman, came rolling down Gallia Street. As the driver, a man, neared Chillicothe Street, he slowed down and seemed to be in doubt as to which way to turn. Parked along the curb near the postoffice, was a Ford containing two women.

One of the women in the "Lizzie" caught a glimpse of the other machine and then the fun began. Jumping out of the Ford, the woman claimed aboard the other car and made an attempt to "get" at the woman occupant. The woman in the machine seeing that the foe was at hand, prepared for hostilities.

Hair flew thick and fast and finger nails drew crimson marks on feminine profiles as the fight went merrily on. And all the while a steady rain fell upon the throng of enthusiastic spectators. Finally, a man, appearing in the role of referee, stepped from the crowd and stopped the bout, awarding the decision to the woman in the larger car on points.

CHICAGO, June 12.—(By the United Press)—The legal battle between two women claiming to have given birth to Leona Celecia, four, climaxed in a hair pulling match as Judge Joseph B. Davis took the case under advisement.

Mrs. Julia Wassum, one of the claimants of the girl, mistook a hair-dresser's cry: "Hear ye! Hear ye! Oyez! Oyez!" for the decision giving Leona to Mrs. Violet Lentz, the other woman. Mrs. Wassum, who was unable to understand English, screamed, swept aside papers on the attorney's table and began raining blows, kicks and curses on Mrs. Lentz. The women rolled on the floor, biting and scratching. Lawyers finally separated them. Judge Davis asked the district attorney to aid in discovering who is the perjuror. Scientific examination of the child and blood tests failed to determine its parentage.

Drys Score Victory In Illinois; Defeated Repealer

SPRINGFIELD, ILL., June 12.—"Dry" forces gained the edge on "wet" members in the day's fight over prohibition in the Illinois Assembly when the Senate defeated tonight 32 to 13, the bill of Senator Marks, Republican, Chicago, to repeal the state prohibition and search-and-seizure acts.

Earlier in the day the House voted, 78 to 70, to take off the table and place on the calendar the O'Grady bill repealing the same acts, subject to popular referendum. This action, "dry" members declared, did not pledge the House to pass the repealer.

Activity at Pittsburgh
PITTSBURGH, PA., June 12.—Indictments against 81 persons charged with violation of the state prohibition law were returned by the Allegheny County Grand Jury today. The return represents the largest number of indictments found at one time by a county grand jury since prohibition became effective, according to records at the District Attorney's office.

Gableman And Calvert May Have Opposition At Primaries

The entry list for the political derby to be run on August 14 closes Friday midnight and with the time limit for the filing of declarations of candidates who expect to participate in the primaries only two days away, only a few petitions had been filed with the Board of Elections up to today. However, leaders of both major parties in Portsmouth and New Boston are quite active shaping up their tickets, with the indications that both the Republicans and Democrats will have full tickets certified in for both municipalities before the barrier drops.

Ohio State Graduates Big Class

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 12.—Ohio State University's forty-sixth annual commencement came to a close today with the conferring of 1,500 degrees upon 1,480 students, 23 receiving two degrees. Exercises were held in the coliseum at the State Fair Grounds, and 6,000 friends and relatives witnessed the handing out of the diplomas.

"The man who has acquired a liberal education has acquired an understanding of life," Dr. L. D. Coffmann, President of the University of Minnesota, commencement-day speaker, told the graduates. "But he who will serve without compensation knows not the meaning of liberal education, because he knows not the quality of service."

"The university world is one where the ideas of service are instilled and you graduates have been living in a world of preparation where you have come in contact with the best."

Governor Donahue was a spectator at the exercises.

The Robert F. Wolfe Journalism medal was awarded to Kenneth B. Snyder, of Middletown. The medal was provided for by a gift to the university four years ago by Mr. Wolfe, owner of Columbus newspapers, and was to insure a study of the practical problems of newspaper work.

Other honorary awards included: Western Conference and scholarship medal to Noel Workman, Huntington, W. Va.; Vanderwever Poetry prize to Dorothy Reid, Gallion; John Gordon Battle prize to Samuel H. Huggins, Columbus; William Edward Bingham memorial medal to Florence L. Eberhard, Fostoria; Delta Sigma Pi scholarship key to Ralph E. Hickey, of Bellevue; and the Chi Omega Sorority prize to Anna M. Murray, Columbus.

O. W. U. LOSES STAR ATHLETES

DELAWARE, O., June 12.—(By the Associated Press)—Graduation exercises here today marked the passing of 17 Ohio Wesleyan University athletes from Ohio conference competition and closed the most successful year in Ohio Wesleyan athletic history with conference championships won in three sports, football, cross-country and track.

Track is the sport hardest hit by graduation with eight men, including Captain Arthur Dornier, Akron, one of the best all-round track stars in Ohio, receiving diplomas. Two all-Ohio gridiron favorites are included in the list of four football men who will receive degrees. Captain George Hubbard, who has for three years been a stellar guard in Ohio conference basketball circles, and two other cage-men are also lost by graduation.

$10,250,000,000 Investments

DAYTON, O., June 12.—(By the Associated Press)—Eight hundred life, fire and miscellaneous insurance companies, operating in Ohio, have investments estimated at $10,250,000,000, Harry L. Conn, state insurance commissioner, declared here today in an address before the state convention of insurance agents.

The investment represents $250,000,000 in real estate; $1,000,000,000 in collateral bonds; $5,000,000,000 in mortgage loans on farm and other property and $6,000,000,000 in stocks and bonds.

Assuming the average rate of return on these investments at four per cent, the annual earnings are in excess of $400,000,000, Mr. Conn said.

"One company in 1922 paid more than $20,000,000 in dividends to its policy holders," he added.

Speaking of life insurance companies, Mr. Conn said that there are

JESS WILLARD HERO OF FLOOD; RESCUES WOMEN AND CHILDREN

PONCA CITY, OKLA., June 12.—(By the United Press)—Jess Willard, one time heavyweight champion and hero of the flood which swept the famous 101 ranch near here, told his own story today of his thrilling fight with the surging waters.

The big Kansan who swam in the raging flood and carried women and children to places of safety, modestly disclaimed any credit for what he had done.

"I didn't do much," said Big Jess. "It was hard work, though, and there were many narrow escapes. What I had most of all, was to see the helpless horses and other livestock swimming about me everywhere without being able to help them. They would swim close to the boat at times and their eyes would beg so pleadingly, I was tempted many times to attempt to rescue them, although it would have been useless."

Colonel Joe Miller, wealthy owner of the 101 ranch, said Willard was the first man to get a wall of water swirling about the ranch. "Jess worked from 2:00 o'clock in the morning until midnight, Colonel Miller said. "After the women and children were safe he turned his attention to the terror stricken livestock swimming frantically about in their enclosures trying to escape from drowning."

Banker To Be Sentenced

CLEVELAND—George E. Wilks, former assistant manager of the Newburgh branch of the Cleveland Trust Company, will be sentenced Thursday following his plea of guilty to stealing $3,000 from the bank.

Revolution

It is considered probable that the ex-ministers will be tried under a special law passed by the agrarian government for the punishment of those responsible for wars. If this should happen it will mean that Ex-premier Stambouliski and his associates will be punished by the very measures under which they sought to punish their former rivals in cabinet positions.

Balkans Apprehensive

All the Balkan capitals are gravely apprehensive over the possibility that the organized Macedonian revolutionaries, comprising the most virile and highly patriotic elements in Bulgaria may attempt by military action to realize their long-cherished dream of an independent Macedonia. Those who know them declare that the home of every one is a miniature arsenal and that they are ready to respond at the slightest signal from their leaders in Sofia.

Jugoslavia, according to press dispatches, views with special alarm the appointment of President Miletich as director of the political department of the Sofia foreign office, as he is alleged to be one of the principal leaders of the comitadjie incursions into Jugoslavia and closely identified with the Macedonian revolutionaries. Cabinet meetings are being held in Belgrade, Bucharest and Athens to consider the consequences of the Sofia upheaval and Serbian, Rumanian and Greek troops are being mobilized along the frontiers.

King Alexander of Jugoslavia is being urged to appeal to the powers to take measures to have Bulgaria observe the strict letter of the treaty of Neuilly.

Campaign

Drastic Steps Taken

DUESSELDORF, June 12 (By the Associated Press).—The killing of three French soldiers—one in Gelsenkirchen and two in Dortmund—within the last few days, has convinced the French military authorities that an organized effort has been launched by the Germans to carry out night attacks against the forces of occupation. Hence drastic measures have been taken against the two municipalities concerned.

It was one of these measures—the restriction of street traffic after 9 o'clock in the evening—that led to the shooting of nine Germans Sunday night when a French patrol was compelled to fire upon them because its warning to clear the streets was disregarded. Six of the Germans died from wounds.

No More Permits

In addition to arresting three German officials, who are to be held as hostages, it was announced today by the French that no more permits will be granted Germans of Dortmund and Gelsenkirchen to leave the occupied area.

At Dortmund it was announced by the French today that 30,000,000 marks had been seized at the Reichsbank—another penalty in connection with the killing of the two French non-commissioned officers Saturday night. At first the French minimized these killings, announcing that they arose out of a quarrel over a woman.

To-day, however, quite another view was taken by the military authorities regarding the situation and, on this account, it was asserted that severe penalties were being exacted.

Physician Is Slain

According to German sources, another of the Germans wounded in Sunday night's affray, is expected to die. Two others are seriously wounded. The Germans assert that, among those killed, was a physician, Dr. Schuene, who was answering a call to the hospital when the patrol ordered the streets cleared.

They alleged that the doctors have permits to be out in the streets after the curfew hour.

British Talks Amnesty

LONDON, June 12 (By the Associated Press).—There is no sign tonight that the British efforts to act as the part of conciliator between France and Germany have as yet met with success. There was no further meeting of the British Cabinet today, but diplomatic pourparlers continued at the Foreign Office were believed to be aiming at some formula to save the face of both France and Germany.

"Amnesty in the Ruhr" is the phrase met with in the press of London, and it is believed that the British effort is to persuade the French Government to get back to the original idea of civil, as opposed to military, occupation of the Ruhr as the only basis upon which England could again join France and Belgium in a joint note seeking to have Germany abandon passive resistance.

Chance for United States to Act. The British Government never acquiesced in the military occupation of the Ruhr. The German contention is that even if Berlin, as France desires, rescinded its orders for passive resistance the Ruhr workers in the occupied region would continue their resistance. The idea is that amnesty in the Ruhr might lead to abandonment of resistance, but the difficulty is that Premier Poincare by dropping his military measures would be admitting failure of the occupation to achieve the desired results.

If this difficulty could be surmounted it is thought it might be easier to reach an allied conference, including Germany. The suggestion is made by some of the British papers that the impasse presents an excellent opportunity for intervention by Washington.

Amateur Night At Columbia Big Success

Amateur Night was observed at the Columbia theatre last night and a large audience enjoyed the clever stunts put on by Robert Hurth, who sang two solos, Beaver and Lande, who sang piano and saxophone duets, Jack Cressy's monologue, and the Kicker Bros. act. These stunts followed the first show and the prize of $5 was awarded to Kicker Bros. who received the most applause. It was decided that the act getting the "biggest hand" would receive the first prize and the Kicker Bros. walked away with the prize. Each act, however, was liberally applauded and Amateur Night was a big success.

Eddie Witherow acted as judge, but the applause for the Kicker Bros. was so long and loud that the audience decided the winner.

It will be Ladies Night tonight at the Columbia in addition to the clever stunts of Fred Heider.

Our City Officers

At a recent meeting awarded the contracts for resurfacing of three of our main streets and the work will be started very shortly and this is as it should be—in fact, it should have been done two years ago. The advertisement to a city of good street—especially the entrance and exit, is worth thousands of dollars, for a tourist will always remember bad roads and streets and cuss that town forever, but now that we are to have ours fixed up and by a home concern that will do it right we can smile and be happy and proud, just as you are when you get into a pair of Palm Beach Oxfords, $3.50 up.

AS FIGHT NEARS SHELBY DEVELOPING INTO REAL TOWN; MAIN STREET BUSY

SHELBY, MONT., June 13.—(By the Associated Press)—Like a huge jelly fish, Shelby is expanding hourly. Originally a cow-town of a few hundred persons, it has become, almost overnight, a noisy, boom city of more than 7,000.

Its one dusty main street is choked with hurrying humanity at all hours of the day. Shacks and row colonies are springing up like mushrooms. A blatant midway with rag doll galleries, soft drink parlors and restaurants is under construction. Squalid structures are blossoming into hotels or concession stands, and every available foot of frontage on the main street boasts of a commercial enterprise of some kind.

One long tentacle of the jellyfish stretches northward from the town. At its terminus is the fight arena, now almost completed, where thousands will gather July 4, for the Jack Dempsey-Tom Gibbons fight at which a championship will be delroned, a challenger conquered. Within a stone's throw of the arena is the Gibbons training camp. Yesterday a crowd of more than 200 including Attorney General W. O. Hankin and the Rev. Joseph Pope, Montana superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, saw the St. Paul heavyweight knockout.

Gibbons boxed eight furious rounds. He appears strong and in good condition. His manager last night ordered his work reduced.

What makes a good job of painting? A good painter, a good paint and a good color scheme. People for whom we have painted houses will tell you that we are good painters.

We know how to prepare a surface before painting it, how to mix paint that will best protect that surface and how to help you choose a permanent and beautiful color scheme.

Our paint is made to order. That is, we mix white lead with linseed oil and turpentine and such colors as you choose in the proper proportion to suit all kinds of lumber, different exposures and atmospheric conditions. We have a reputation for doing good work and we can do it if we used the same paint mixture for every house we painted.

More Trouble For Co-Operative League

Trouble appears to be piling up for present and former officials of the Co-operative League of America, according to the following dispatches in yesterday's Enquirer:

PITTSBURG, Pa., June 12.—Three former officers of the Co-operative League of America were arrested by Federal authorities here today on warrants charging that they used the mails to defraud. The case, Postoffice inspectors declared, involved mortgages valued at $1,300,000 owned by investors in Pennsylvania and other states.

Charles E. Succop, President of the league, and John Clark, Vice President, were held in $5,000 bail each for hearing next Monday. Harry J. Board, Secretary-Treasurer, was held on $10,000 bail.

The arrests, according to inspectors, followed an investigation by Federal Judge Albert B. Anderson at Indianapolis, Ind., after a receiver was named for the league.

The men arrested here, inspectors said, resigned as trustees of the league last December and the assets fell into the hands of the Hawkins Mortgage Company.

Later they said, the assets were assigned to the Bankers Mortgage Company, after which investors in the league received literature from the Hawkins Company recommending that they purchase stock in that concern with a par value of one cent a share for $15 a share with the money they had paid into the league.

The Winners Get Sleepy

Tommy Gives Greb Good Trouncing

BY BOB DORMAN
NEA Service Writer
CHAPTER IV

HELBY, MONT., June 14—Everyone told Gibbons that Harry Greb would eat him up. But Tommy was ambitious. Greb had just beaten George Chip and had a 20-carat reputation. But Gibbons was fighting in his home town, so it was St. Paul against Pittsburgh, the town that grew Greb. Well, Tommy gave Harry such a lacing that it took him five years to get the Pittsburgh boy in the humor of getting in the ring with him again.

Joe Was Hard One
Gibbons now was studying to be a two-styled fighter—inlighting and long range.

Tommy next beat Gus Christie at Winnipeg, and Vic Hanson at St. Joseph, Mo. Then he ran into Joe Herrick back of Winnipeg. Herrick was a tough customer. Gibbons ducked a left-hand punch and ran into his elbow. It cut his eye. The blood streamed down his face. He could hardly see.

Folks wanted to stop the row. But some doctor there saved Tommy. He ran out to a drug store and got a stick of caustic. It stopped the bleeding.

Then Gibbons waded in. In the 12th and final round he floored Herrick two or three times and won the decision.

The fans liked it so well they matched the two again. In the second round, Tommy had Joe on the floor most of the time. But he wouldn't stay down.

Kane Joins 'Em
Up to 1916 Mike and Tommy had been managing their own affairs. They were getting a lot of work, but the business end interfered with their training.

They met Eddie Kane in Chicago on one of their trips. They liked him. And later, as the brothers assure you, they learned.

"You have to live with a man before you can understand him," says Tommy. "Kane got us matches. He made us money. We've never been sorry we invited him into our circle."

March 3 Tommy boxed Bert Kenney. He learned something in that scrap that helped him climb. He had Kenney neatly out in the second round. He told Mike he would finish him in the third.

Tommy was all warmed up. Mike doused him with cold water—ice water at that.

But after being cooled off, Tommy couldn't get going again. He was as cold as if he hadn't been fighting at all.

After the bout the brothers talked it over with Kane. They decided to have a new move, suitable to cool off while fighting than it would be to throw cold water on a race horse between heats. They saw they had been working against one of nature's laws.

Tommy was careful when he met Jackie Clark. He went through the fight like a shot. All he used the towel for was to wipe off his face and as a blanket around his shoulders.

Then along came the big one—Batling Levinsky, light heavyweight champion. If Gibbons beat him he would be somebody then besides just Mike Gibbons' brother.

Vanceburg Team To Play Here Saturday

The Vanceburg Independents, a Junior baseball nine of that village has accepted the challenge of Troop 1 Boy Scout team of this city and plans have been completed for a game between the teams to be played Saturday afternoon on the Industrial League diamond. The game will begin at 2:30 o'clock. The Troop 1 nine is one of the strongest Junior baseball aggregations in these parts. No admission will be charged but a collection will be taken to defray expenses.

If Weather Man Ditches Grouch, Sunday School League To Open Tomorrow Night

With the clouds pouring forth showers all day long it was impossible again yesterday evening to open the Portsmouth Sunday school league. Rev. P. A. Cross is manager of the league and is said to have lined up most of the Scitoville regular team for his representative nine.

On Friday evening Second Presbyterian is scheduled to meet Maunly. Dates will be arranged later for the postponed games of Monday and Tuesday nights.

"Grudge" Card Monday
Because of the fact that all of the boxers have met their respective opponents of former occasions, unusual interest is being displayed over the fight which will be presented to local fans Monday night at the Winter Garden.

Shifty Dando and Big Blair both will be seen in a double main event against Gene Bundy and Gil Elchoff of Dayton. Both of these local ring artists lost decisions to these same boxers in Chillicothe last month.

Most of the Portsmouth ring followers who saw the contests are positive that the local mitt slingers are capable of winning over the Dayton entries next Monday evening.

Nub Burr and Kid Lucky are both willing mixers and are sure to put up a fast and interesting scuffle. Lucky won over Nub in their previous encounter. Butch White who meets Jack Tins will also have an opportunity of evening his score as the latter won on a technical knockout over the local southpaw several months ago. From all indications it looks like a great evening for the boxing fans.

The seats will go on sale this evening at the Smoke House at the usual prices.

Tennis Tournament Resumes Tonight

The Trinity tennis tournament for men will get underway again this evening after the Monday and Tuesday games had to be called off on account of rain soaked courts.

The Grunts and the Cardinals are not the only clubs that are seeking the services of Walter Ruester. The Reds are willing to put up good hard cash, and plenty of it, for the great left-hander, and the proposition made by the Cincinnati club is said to approximate $20,000. Ever since a league known that Ruester and Spirey Dando had come to the part of the ways, there has been hot competition for the contract of the more than half a century of Seiling southpaw. It is well known that the Ruester himself prefers Cincinnati to all other locations.

ONE-SIDED EFFECTS
One-sided effects were featured at a recent fashion display in London, one gown that attracted much attention had one very wide sleeve and one that was short and tight fitting.

FLOWING GOLD

BEGIN HERE TODAY
Calvin Gray hires three associates to keep track of the oil field activities of Colonel Henry Nelson, who is his enemy. Gray is friendly with the Briskow family. Bud Briskow, the son, has charge of his father's oil wells. Allie Briskow comes to spend a few days with her brother. Bud phones for Gray to come to the fields at once as oil is expected on some land in which Gray has an interest. Gray is injured while watching operations on the field. Allie volunteers to nurse him. Allie is in love with Gray, but he loves Barbara Parker.

NOW GO ON WITH STORY
When she had laid her inert burden upon the bed, Allie knelt and took Gray's head upon her bosom. Then, for the first time, those forces imprisoned deep within her being ran wild, and under the red glare of that flaming gas she kissed his hair, his eyes, his lips. Gray and her again she kissed them with the hungry passion of a woman starved.

CHAPTER XXVI
In Dangerous Waters
A SUBDUED but continuous whispering irritated Calvin Gray. When it persisted, minute after minute, he opened his eyes, asking himself, dully, why it was that people couldn't let a fellow sleep.

Altogether Briskow appeared out of nowhere and laid a soothing hand upon his brow. When she saw the light of sanity in his eyes, her face brightened and she cried, eagerly: "You're coming around all right, aren't you? You mustn't talk. Everything is all right—all right, honestly. I'll tell you everything, but just you rest now until Buddy comes." There was magnanimity in the girl's touch and comfort in her voice.

It was some time later that Gray opened his eyes and spoke in a more natural voice, saying, "How do I happen to be here in your house, Allie?"

"We brought you over at daylight. Buddy's gone for a doctor, but he'll be back." The girl averted her face quickly and moved toward the window.

"He ought to be at the well—putting it out. God! What a sight! I see it yet!"

"The well is out!" Allie returned, and seated herself beside the bed. "You probably won't understand it, or believe it—I can scarcely believe it myself, for it's a miracle. All the same, it's out, shut in, and not same, it's done. You're not ruined, either, for Buddy says they're short of fuel here, and a gasser is size is worth a good deal—most as much as a fair oil well."

"How can it be shut in? It was blazing, roaring—a tower of flame. The derrick itself was going."

"I know, but the strangest thing—Allie spoke, breathlessly. Let me do the talking, please. You remember the drill stems were standing over in one corner? Well, the fire drove everything off, of course; there was no fuel in it, and they thought sure they'd have a job—have to send for boilers and another drill down with steam, maybe, or turn down, or something, work for days, maybe, weeks, and spend a fortune. Anyhow, they were in a panic, but when the derrick went down what do you think? That stack of drill stems fell in such a way as to close the gate valve at the top of the casing."

"It sounds incredible." This speaker made an effort to collect himself, he raised an uncertain hand to his forehead. "What ails me? I recall a lot of things, but they're pretty well confused."

Allie made known the nature of the accident resulting in Gray's injury, and he nodded his understanding. "So Buddy saved my life," he smiled. "Great boy, Buddy! I'll know better than to mix it with him again—he learns too quickly."

"Oh, it was terrible! I've been so—so frightened!" Allie Briskow suddenly lost control of herself, and, bowing her head, she hid her face in the musty patchwork quilt. Her shoulders shook, and her whole strong body twitched and trembled. "You're been awful sick. I did the best I could, but—"

"There, there!" Gray placed his hand upon the girl's head; he took her palm in his and stroked it. "I'm not worth your tears, child. And, anyhow, I'm all right again; I am, indeed. I'm as well as ever, so far as I can tell. By the way, what set the well afire?"

"Buddy thinks somebody must have dropped a cigarette when the stampede came." The girl raised her face and wiped the tears from it.

"It has been raining cats and dogs; the creek has overflowed and everything is under water."

"Under water? Here. Why, that can't be." Gray insisted upon rising, and Allie finally consented to his doing so; then, despite his protest that he was quite able to take care of himself, she helped him to the window. From that position he beheld a surprising scene.

"The Briskow farm lay in a flat, swamp-like valley, arid and dusty at most seasons of the year, but now a shallow lake, the surface of which was broken by occasional fences, of dead weeds, or the tops of misty clumps of bushes, or the tops of dead woods." The nearest Briskow derrick was dimly visible, its floor awash, its shape suggestive of the battle mast of a smitten man-of-war.

Altogether Briskow sang while she prepared supper, for the reaction from the strain of the last twelve hours was like an intoxication. Mr. Gray was in no further danger; he was well except for a bandaged head and some bruises. And he was here again with her.

with debris, but also it was thick with oil. "It's just like that on the other side. That gusher on sixteen must be wild."

"I dare say it won't get any worse," Gray spoke with a carelessness that he was far from feeling, but his tone did not deceive the girl.

"It doesn't have to get any worse," she declared, impatiently. "There's oil enough here to burn. We're in the middle of a lake of it. What'll happen if it catches fire?"

"At least we'll be as well off inside as out here," Gray declared, and his companion agreed, so together they went into her room, where, side by side, they peered through her window.

A blue glare and a ripping explosion gave the lie to Gray's cheering words. Allie Briskow recoiled from the window.

"We'll be burned alive!" she gasped. "Roasted like rats in a trap. I—I'm frightened, Mr. Gray. She drew closer to him.

"No need of that. We'll get out of this scrape somehow—people always do." A flicker lit the room, and he saw that the face appeared to have been wide-eyed, strained. That brief glimpse of Allie, like a picture seen through the shutter of a camera, remained long with the lips for her hair was unbound, her lips were parted, and her dark eyes were peering brilliantly through the opening of her lace negligee her round, white neck and swelling bosom were exposed. It was a head, a lost, to be remembered.

"I—You got to hold me," she said, huskily, and he felt her body shrink close to his. She clung tightly to him, trembling at first, then shaking in every limb. Fright, it seemed, had suddenly mastered Allie Briskow.

Gray endeavored to be moment to soothe her, then gently to loosen her hold; he spoke to her as he would have spoken to a terrified child, but the wildness of her emotion matched the wildness of the night, and her strength was nearly equal to his. Roughly he tore her arms from about his neck and put her away from him; by main strength he forced her into a chair, then snatched a covering of some sort from the bed and folded it around her shoulders.

His voice was hoarse to him it sounded almost hoarse as he said: "Get hold of yourself! We're in no great danger, really. Now then, a light will help us both. With husky hands he struck a match and lit the lamp. "Light's a great thing—drives away foolishness, fright, nerves and fancies of all sorts. Without looking at her he seized the electric torch at her bedside and gave a look around just to see that things were snug. Back presently."

Beaver Wins

BEAVER, June 13.—The fast Beaver nine beat the Tri-Town Tigers at Gillespieville Sunday 4-1. The contest was a pitchers' battle between Vanfossan and Mahoney, in which Vanfossan shined Mahoney slightly. Vanfossan did not give a single pass or allow more than one hit only in the eighth in which the Tigers scored their lone tally on two hits and a stolen base. Both teams fielded fast and snappy. The same teams play next Sunday June 17 on the Beaver diamond.

CLEVELAND AGAIN HAULS DOWN CHESTY YANKEES

NEW YORK, June 13.—Cleveland made it three out of four from the New York champions, winning the last game of the series Tuesday 8-4. Cleveland came from behind in the seventh inning, winning the game with a rally which netted five runs, the result of four hits and two bases on balls. Mays was batted for two more runs in the eighth before he retired a man. New York hit Chicago hard in the first inning, when Witt and Dugan opened with singles and Ruth followed with his thirteenth home run of the season. CUBS GOING SOME

CHICAGO, June 13.—Chicago made a clean sweep of the series with Boston by taking the final game 12-1, and winning its string of consecutive victories to seven. Hack Miller's great batting was largely responsible for the Cubs' victory, as he drove in seven runs. In the fifth, his first home run tied the score as three runners scored ahead of him. On his next trip up he drove in another run ahead of his second homer. The visitors rallied in the ninth when Keen blew up and Pussell was sent in to stop the scoring. He walked the first man he faced, filling the bases, but a fast play by Grantham and Hollocher retired the side. Score:

A THIRD PARTY

FRANK A. MUNSEY and William Randolph Hearst are both said to be strong for a third presidential party. That's just half surprising. Munsey has been a worshipper at the feet of Harding and so staunch was his partisanship that it seemed nothing could jar him therefrom. We opine it is Harding's adoption of adherence to the international court. Munsey is the journalistic Hi Johnson on the league of nations, and it would now seem he is sincere in his expression that it embraced all the ills, real and imaginable.

Munsey and Hearst would make a formidable combination in fomenting a third party if they got together and held together. But while they may get together it is just as likely that a tom cat and a bulldog will become bed-fellows, that they will hold together. Munsey has economic principles that will never coalesce with Hearst's economic fallacies. Hearst wants to run the whole shooting match himself, for the aggrandizement of Hearst and Munsey likes to have his say. So there you are.

But suppose they should form a political partisanship and stick to it for one campaign. There sure would be something doing in this old country. Munsey owns several papers in New York City and Hearst has papers in New York, Baltimore, Alabama, Georgia, Texas, Chicago, Detroit and California and in each one of them he shows more capacity for stirring up trouble than all contemporaries combined.

THE HELPING HAND

AUSTRIA, which undoubtedly of all the enemy countries was most sadly wrecked and disintegrated as a result of the world war, instead of bemoaning and wrangling over her fate, seems to have set her face bravely and determinedly towards recoupment and as a consequence is achieving early encouragement and reward for her sturdiness. Desiring a loan she went straight to her conquerors and laid her need and desire frankly before them. She was not only received in the same spirit, but sympathetically as well, with the upshot that continental and American bankers agreed to float a loan for her. As expeditiously as possible they offered the bonds, $25,000,000, to the public and they were all taken in less than half a day, the New York quota going in fifteen minutes.

Austria shorn of her once vast domain, no longer ranks among the powers as a military potentiality but she still possesses bravery and honor and these are qualities that will bring her more peace and prosperity of duration than strength of arms.

There is just one thing to say about this resurfacing, some streets need it badly enough.

Farmers were growling there was no rain, less than a week ago; now the lament that it never rains but it pours and then rains some more. Never mind, the sun is shining behind that cloud and there'll be other dry spells.

These grangers are getting quite enterprising. For weeks they have had the rural districts covered with flaring signs reading: "Paint the County White." It is now explained that this means for every farmer to sow at least a bit of white clover, this week. Good advertising of a good proposition.

Every little helps so the farmers and everybody else are feeling better over the brisk showers and cooler weather of the last week and this.

Bulgaria has a new government. Nothing particular in that. If a half dozen or so don't like this one they can set up another in a few weeks.

They must have got Harding riled. He is talking the international court of justice mighty strong. Just wait though. The reservations and limitations will come along later.

Sometimes you get a thing when it is needed exactly as it is needed. That rain of Sunday for instance.

Having taken a Sunday ride over the West Side of the flag, we entertain the profound conclusion that as the people of Portsmouth pay about two-thirds of the cost of road building, the least the commissioners can do for them on that highway is to oil it on the gravel sections.

Must be getting some of the old stuff down in Florida. See where the capture of a monstrous sea monster is reported from down there.

New York=Day=By=Day

BY O. O. MCINTYRE

NEW YORK, June 12—There is a section of Eighth Avenue that has the flavor of the old Bowery. The peculiar jargon of the Boweryites has taken root there. Thus a girl is a "skit", and a bird is a "bold", and so on.

In one of the dance, or "spiel", halls young toughs were dancing with their caps on and the girls were prodigiously chewing gum. Their steps were those that have been glorified in the musical comedy by Bowery dance imitators.

Bellevue Street "millionaires" who wear silk hats with red ties now go to Eighth Avenue to parade. Chuck's Beany is one of the favorite meeting places. Chuck has a scar across his face and looks as though he would take little back talk.

Eighth Avenue has its mayor, a heady eyed young man with pompadour hair who is half proprietor in a pool hall and who is an expert fixer when one of the clan gets mixed up in some peccadillo. Just as the Bowery loved its wax museums, so does Eighth Avenue. Three have sprung up there, with hally-hoos outside who describe the horrors within. One has a snake doctor in the window who promises to cure every ill.

Next door to a dental parlor is a doctor's sign and the inscription reads: "Sunken noses built up." Picturesque street hawkers abound. There is the silver haired old crotch doctor who wears a ring on each finger and three gold breastpins in his shirt front.

Also the glue and cement expert who shows how a mended cracked plate will hold three bricks and a chunk of iron. Parrot Mag, whose parakeets select your fortune card has moved up here from Broome street along with Indian Joe who pulls teeth painlessly with his fingers.

In a little jewelry shop in Broadway the window display includes a gold cigarette case with a diamond and ruby crest. A card beside the case reads: "Original cigarette case used by the late czar of Russia and not for sale." The clasp is composed of two diamonds. In another window, further up, is a combination vest pocket watch and cigar cutter which is reputed to have been the property of a Grand Duke and is also not for sale.

One of the professional shimmy dancers went down to Atlantic City last week to play a single engage.

BERTON BRALEY'S DAILY POEM

FOOLS

By Berton Braley

THE wise men said, "Why, the world is flat!"

Our fathers' fathers have taught us that.

And all experience goes to show that what our fathers have said is so.

It's only fools who would dare allege that one could sail over the ocean's edge.

But the fools—the fools!—let the toxin sound it—

Sailed to the blue-sky's edge—and 'round it.

THE wise men said, "It is all a dream. That anything could be done with steam."

The wise men said, "He's a fool for fair. Who thinks we ever shall ride the air."

But the fools believed, and the fools held true. To their foolishness, till they saw it through:

And a fool must follow his natural bent—

So now we swoop down through the firmament.

THE fools, the fools! how they loom in sight, Galileo, Columbus, Wright, Watts and Stephenson—pioneers

Conquering nature, charting spheres; And ever the wise men—learning naught,

Jeered the aims and the ends they sought. In the teeth of all the crowds and schools,

Man is led to the heights—by Fools! (Copyright, 1923, NEA Service, Inc.)

The alligator skin shoes in all colors—red, blue, canary yellow and pink—are being worn by Broadway chorus girls. They criss-cross around the ankles with from eight to ten straps and are quite dazzling. Some of the more daring chorines are wearing them with half hose.

The last stand of the theatre smokers has gone. The Winter Garden has been made over and, with the change, come the announcement smoking has been prohibited. There are about three first class theatres that will permit smoking in the upper tier boxes only.

Doc Koko's KOLUM

Let Us Be Better Men!
Let us find things to do
Samer and sweeter than any yet
Higher and nobler and true!

Let us be better men!
Let us begin again.
Trying all over the best we know
To climb and develop and grow.

Let us be better men!
Whether with pick or pen,
The labor we do is a work worth while

If our hearts are clean and our spirits smile
And out of the ruck and rust and stain
We make some growth and we mark some gain.

Let us be better men!
In a world that needs so much
The loftier spirit's touch.
Let us grow upward toward the light,
Wedded to wanting to do the right,
Rather than wedded to human might.

Cars and Ships
Little Johnny was seeking information from his father.

"Father," he asked, "freight is goods that are sent by water or land, isn't it?"

"That's right, son."

"Well, then, why is it that the freight that goes by ship is called a cargo, and when it goes by car it is called a shipment?"

And then Johnny wondered why father put on his hat and sauntered outside to get the air.

The Reason

Witness—"I don't know."

"You don't know? Don't you remember what you ordered?"

Something on Account
The doctor coughed gravely. "I'm sorry to tell you," he said, "looking down at the man in the bed, that there is no doubt you are suffering from smallpox."

The patient turned on his pillow and looked up at his wife, "Julia," he said, in a faint voice, "if any of my creditors call, tell them that at last I am in a position to give them something."

"Oh, no, dear. It's all right—the hour soon goes."
